

"I Intend to, But Haven't Begun Yet"

OF the ninety people in every hundred in this country who are not fortifying their futures with savings accounts, the majority would say, "I intend to, but haven't begun yet." Time flies. The flight of time makes a savings account increasingly valuable. Almost before we know it a year, two years, a decade go by. Looking ahead ten or twenty years the time seems long. Looking back it seems wondrous short.

TWO PARTIES GETTING READY FOR THE CAMPAIGN

D. D. McKay, chairman of the Weber county Democratic campaign committee, received a letter from Mathoniah Thomas, the state chairman, stating that a message from Vance McCormick, Democratic national chairman, had conveyed the information that October 28 had been set apart as "Wilson day" in the United States.

The letter requested Mr. McKay to direct other members of the organization under his supervision to promote interest in the day that the observance here might be noteworthy among observers in practically every city and town in the United States.

Plans for the observance call for fitting exercises at which excerpts from speeches of Martin H. Glynn and Senator Ollie James, will be read. These two men are recognized leaders in the Democratic party and rank among the nation's leading statesmen.

A letter from President Wilson also will be read as a part of the observance. It is planned also to arrange for discussions of the work accomplished by the president during his term at the White House.

In connection with the announcement, S. S. Smith, of the county Democratic organization, stated that the campaign organization practically had been perfected and that effective work was being performed by canvassers. Polling lists, which will be representative of all the voters in Weber county and Ogden city, are also being compiled by competent stenographers co-operating with the campaign officials.

To attract attention to the public headquarters in the Beecham building, the campaign committee men have had huge signs placed in front of the room occupied and on the various sides of the portico which extends over the sidewalk canopied the entrance to the Berthana.

The Weber county Republican organization, of which Charles R. Hollingsworth is chairman and John V. Bluth, secretary, has rented one of the rooms in the same building and were preparing to occupy it as Republican headquarters. Before moving in, however, carpenters must carry out plans for the installation of the necessary equipment in tables, desks, chairs, pictures of candidates, etc.

The Republicans, it was stated this morning, propose to attract attention to their headquarters by a large sign to be suspended over the street. This plan was decided upon after it was learned that all available space for signs on the building had been taken up by Democratic signs.

The Republican campaign organization will be completed next Saturday, when a special committee of five appointed by the county central committee at the meeting last Saturday, will recommend the nomination of a candidate for the vacancy in the state legislative ticket.

John V. Bluth, secretary of the county organization, and Charles R. Hollingsworth, the chairman, will be in charge of Republican headquarters.

Mr. Bluth said today he probably would assume the new duty Monday morning, after he had obtained leave of absence from his work in the office of County Clerk Harry Hales, who is a candidate for re-election. The secretary will be at headquarters after Monday the greater part of the time, Mr. Hollingsworth relieving.

COMBLES TAKEN BY THE ALLIES

Pivotal Point on Somme Front Now in the Hands of Entente.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Combles, the pivotal point in the German line on the approach to Bapaume, on the north and Peronne on the south of the Somme front, has fallen before attacks of French and British, the Germans fighting to the death or surrendering when there was no longer hope.

French and British troops swept in from three sides after their capture of Morval and Fregicourt, broke through the German defense, overran the town and carried all before them. This place with its marvelous subterranean passages and powerful fortifications, had been caught in the grip of the entente allies who, coming from the north and the south, had already advanced far beyond it and cut off communication with the rear except a narrow strip which was covered by the allied guns. At the end of the fighting the town was filled with the bodies of Germans, the French official statement says.

Prior to the loss of Combles, the effect of the victories of the French and British armies, in the capture of important strategic points on the previous day was reflected in the official communication issued by the German war office which, after describing briefly the great artillery bombardment of the entente allies lasting four days and the attack between the Arras and the Somme, admitted that "the conquest of these villages on the line Guedecourt must be recognized," and added: "But before all we must think of our heroic troops who faced the united Anglo-French principal force and the massed employment of material of the whole world's war industry, prepared during many months."

Thiepval Also Falls.

Thiepval, at the northwestern end of the British line, and the fortified town of Guedecourt, northwest of Les Boeufs, also have fallen to the British. General Sir Douglas Haig's men, after capturing Thiepval, drove on eastward and took the Zollern redoubt, a strongly fortified position which lies between Thiepval and the bend in the British line at Courcellette. The French, likewise, advanced beyond Fregicourt and captured the wood between that village and Morval and the greater part of the German fortified positions lying between this wood eastward across the Bethune road to the western portion of the St. Vaast road, thence south of Bapaume.

The German casualties in the fighting are declared by Paris to have been heavy and in addition, during the two days' fighting more than 1200 Germans were made prisoner by the French, while the British took in excess of 1500. Large quantities of booty were taken by the entente allies.

While Petrograd continues silent with regard to the operations on the eastern front, both Berlin and Vienna tell of the repulse of strong Russian attacks in Volynia, Galicia and the Carpathian mountain region.

On the Rumanian front Austrians and Germans have been compelled to evacuate the Vulkan and Saurduk passes of the Transylvania Alps, in order to avoid an extensive Rumanian encircling movement.

Sofia reports the capture of the Amarech-Pervels line in Dobrudja from the Russian and Rumanians. Raids by the Teutonic allies since Saturday night have resulted in the death of 130 persons, 79 in England and 45 in Bucharest, Rumania. A large number of persons also were injured in both regions by the explosion of bombs dropped from Zeppelins and aeroplanes.

AMERICAN IS HELD PRISONER

Trooper Kills Carranza Sergeant—Pershing's Demand for Release Denied.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 25.—A Carranza sergeant of the El Valle, Chihuahua garrison, was shot and killed Friday night by an American trooper of the Fifth cavalry, who is being held prisoner, according to a report brought to Columbus, N. M., from field headquarters. The Carranza commander at El Valle refused to surrender the prisoner after General J. J. Pershing sent a messenger requesting release of the American.

According to the report, eight members of the Fifth cavalry visited a saloon at El Valle. Seventeen Carranza soldiers entered later with side arms. During the drinking, the Mexican sergeant is said to have proposed a toast to the United States, which was objected to by the Americans. The shooting is reported to have followed. The troops fled through windows and doors, but missed one of their comrades when they reached camp. They reported to surrender the soldiers carrying a wounded American away.

Following an investigation General Pershing sent Captain William Reed to confer with the Carranza commander. Unconfirmed reports say the latter refused to release the trooper and is holding him incommunicado on a charge of murder.

GREAT CROWDS CHEER HUGHES

Mexican Situation, Adamson Bill and Tariff Are Discussed.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Seven thousand people in the army here tonight cheered Charles E. Hughes's characterization of the Adamson bill as "the most shocking thing that has happened in my memory of political life."

Returning to the Mexican attacks, Hughes challenged the administration to deny that it had sent the instructions to John Lind, uncovered the other day at South Bend and quoted by Hughes tonight again, declaring that Huerta must get out of Mexico. He again laid the responsibility for anarchy and rapine in Mexico at the door of President Wilson.

Bestowing high praise on Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France when the Wilson administration took office and recalled in the midst of exciting duties in connection with the great war, Hughes said:

"It will ever remain a blot upon the present administration that it suffered him to be superseded at this critical time."

Finally, he seized upon the occasion of another tariff talk to serve notice upon Republican leaders generally that he is to be the boss, if elected, and that no special favors are to be expected.

No Favoritism.

"I had no special wish to be a candidate," he said, "no desire at all to be a candidate at this election, because I know what the burdens of office are and I was very well content with the distinguished office, which I had the privilege of holding. But I did not take this nomination and I have no desire to be elected to pass out favors to any set of men in this country."

Denouncing the removal of Ambassador Herrick, Hughes said: "It does not make any particular difference that it was Herrick. It is not the point that it was this country, but I say that at a time of war to have this country represented in any foreign capacity of a belligerent nation by a man so loved and trusted as he was, was of the first importance to his country and it will ever remain a blot upon the present administration that it suffered him to be superseded at this critical time."

"That is not the way to advance American interests. Nobody in Europe could understand that. I venture to say that no one great nation, except our own, would think of doing anything of that sort."

Best Ohio Meeting.

Tonight's meeting was the biggest and most enthusiastic Hughes has had in Ohio, which state is declared to be lukewarm toward him and to favor Wilson, because "he kept us out of war."

There was little demonstration for the candidate along the street, but the cheering for him lasted several minutes when he entered the hall, the big demonstration, as usual, coming in response to his pledge to uphold the national honor.

Beginning the day at Findlay, he spoke successively at Bowling Green, Toledo, Port Clinton, Sandusky and Elyria. At all of these places he was cordially received, but the feature of the day was the verbal combat Hughes had with a group of working men at the Willy-Overland plant at Toledo. He fought a drawn battle there at noon with about 500 partisans of Mr. Wilson.

Hughes had been warned against discussing the Adamson bill in Toledo, which is a hotbed of socialism, besides being a big industrial center and one of the biggest railroad centers in the middle west.

Winding up in Ohio tomorrow, Hughes will reach Pittsburgh at noon and remain there until midnight, when he will move on east to Trenton where he will open the Republican campaign in New Jersey Thursday morning.

FUGITIVE CAUGHT AT HOT SPRINGS

That the arm of the law is too persistent in its clutches to allow any amateur Raffles, was evidenced yesterday when John Zundell, sheriff of Boxelder county, reached out and grabbed C. J. Jones who had escaped from him Monday afternoon.

Jones was arrested by the officer at Tremonton, Monday afternoon, on a warrant charging him with burglary. The sheriff took his prisoner to Brigham City. It was there Jones took advantage of the opportunity to flee when the sheriff's attention became occupied in conversation with friends.

The Box Elder sheriff, not willing to concede that any twenty-year-old boy was going to put anything over on him, yesterday morning started to Ogden in search of the fugitive, after notifying officials of the Ogden, Logan and Idaho railway to instruct conductors and motormen to keep on the look out for any person answering Jones' description. When the car reached the Utah Hot Springs station, the officer was greeted by a friendly "good morning." The conductor spoke and then whispered a few words in the sheriff's ear. The next minute Jones was wearing handcuffs. The prisoner was locked in the Weber county jail.

EXECUTIONS AT CHIHUAHUA CITY

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 26.—Wholesale executions are taking place in Chihuahua City following the Villa attack, it was announced at military headquarters here today. Five hundred prisoners were taken and executed since the fight, the report to George Bell, Jr., states and many other prisoners have been taken.

General Bell also has a report of a skirmish which is reported to have occurred at Arena, ten miles south of Juarez, Sunday night. He says wounded Carranza soldiers have been brought back to Juarez from that station. The Carranza officials in Juarez insist that these wounded soldiers were brought from Chihuahua City following the fight with Villa forces.

A report from Chihuahua that General Matias Ramos had returned to the state capital with only thirty-five men left of his original force of 350, also was received by General Bell.

A prominent Mexican who was taken prisoner by Villa at Chihuahua City and later released, reached the border today and reported to military headquarters that Villa had executed five of the 308 prisoners taken during the Chihuahua battle. FOUR SAVED FROM A STEAMER WRECK

Owego, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Four members of the crew of the steamer Roberval of Ottawa, which foundered yesterday in Lake Ontario, nine miles from here, were picked up late today on an improvised raft after being buffeted by the sea for 20 hours without food. The others reported missing were seen in a yawl 40 miles from here near the Canadian shore, it was reported tonight. This would indicate no lives were lost.

The four rescued from the raft were Peter Eligh, captain of the Roberval; Della Parent, cook; Joseph Parisien, mate, and Marcel Semonnau, fireman. They declared that Henry Sequin, another fireman, and Theodore Leroy, a deck hand, who probably were saved in the yawl, were washed overboard from the Roberval with a deckload of lumber.

Philip Trotter, chief engineer; Oliver Sequin, an assistant to Trotter, and Edward Legault, wheelman, who took to a lifeboat and reached here early today, had reported that the rest of the crew probably had been drowned.

Captain Eligh describing their plight tonight, in which he, Miss Parent, Parisien and Semonnau found themselves after being separated from the others of the crew, said they improvised their raft from lumber on deck, and then cast adrift. They had not seen the Roberval sink, he said. A search of Lake Ontario since the arrival of the first of the crew this morning failed to show any trace of the vessel.

Captain Eligh told a thrilling story of the experiences of himself and the others on the improvised raft. Many times last night, he said, all were in danger of being drowned, as it was with difficulty that they succeeded in keeping the raft together. The rescue was effected 30 miles northeast of here by guards of the Big Sandy life saving station.

Captain John J. O'Hagan of the steamship Gessana, arriving tonight, reported passing the two men in the yawl. The little craft corresponded to the description of the one carried by the Roberval, it was said.

HUGHES FACES ODD AUDIENCES

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Charles E. Hughes faced two audiences here today, one at a theatre which cheered him repeatedly, another in the open air at a large automobile plant crowded with workers off for the noon hour. A number of them fought to heckle the nominee and cheered Wilson. There were also many cheers for Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Hughes spoke on the Adamson law in his open air speech. He reiterated his declaration that he would never "surrender" to foreign rule and his assertion that the measure was not an eight-hour law but a wage law. The audience listened quietly at first and cheered points made by the nominee.

"What about the Danbury hatters?" shouted a man on the edge of the crowd.

Doesn't Hear Question.

There were many siren noises from passing traffic and apparently Mr. Hughes did not hear. Toward the end of his speech, other workmen took up the question.

"What about the Danbury hatters?" shouted many.

There was much other noise and voices. Mr. Hughes did not answer. After the meeting he said he had not heard the question.

"How about the unions in the factory here?" shouted another man.

Mr. Hughes replied that he favored unions and was cheered.

Cheers for Wilson.

As the nominee neared the end of his address there was growing volume of Wilson cheers, sprinkled here and there with uncomplimentary references to Mr. Hughes. He continued, however, with a smile on his face and, amidst frequent applause, referred to the Adamson law, declaring labor, least of all, could afford to surrender the principle of arbitration only after investigation.

The nominee repeated his attack on the administration for the Adamson bill in his address at the theatre. He was vigorously applauded. He also declared for the protection of American rights.

"The path of proper preparedness, the path of maintenance, justice and firmly, of American rights is not the path that leads to war," he said. "It is the path of security. The pathway of peace is to announce American rights in advance and have the world understand exactly what we think and what we are prepared to do."

North Yakima, Wash., Sept. 26.—Forty men, the majority of whom are reported to be members of the Industrial Workers of the World, were locked in refrigerator cars here today by 150 citizens armed with baseball bats and ax handles who stood guard until it was learned that the cars would not be moved.

The men were marched to the cars by the armed citizens who intended shipping them out of town, but the railroad refused to handle the cars. When the railroad officials refused to haul cars in which the men had been locked the citizens decided to take them to the county jail. The men were freed from the cars and marched back into town again, the armed citizens on either side of them. Ten alleged leaders had been arrested previously.
